

INTERNSHIP PROJECT MANAGER

100% / 6 months
management, consulting, storytelling

We are Zense, a Zurich-based consultancy whose daily bread is handling complex content of all kinds – all in the service of creating meaningful, sensual, and... slightly insane stuff. Our services include strategy mobilisations, internal/external communication, and film production. Our product range includes (animated) films, infographics, websites, games, and more.

We're looking for a smart, creative, and engaging person to join our team as a project manager and consultant for a 6-month internship.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Understanding (first and foremost) and reframing (not just rehashing!) the business and communication strategies of clients, big and small,
 - structuring and preparing content of all kinds (conceptual work, writing, proofreading, editing, sketching, storyboarding),
 - advising and supporting clients as their single point of contact,
 - and owning your projects and spicing them up with your own ideas.

WHAT YOU BRING TO THE PROVERBIAL TABLE:

- A university degree (economics, business, communications, cast/media - or any other engaging subject),
 - prior experience in consulting or with an agency,
 - fluency in German and professional proficiency in English,
 - the ability to learn quickly, a structured approach to tasks, enthusiasm, dedication, creativity - and a sense of humor,
 - a passion for storytelling in all its forms (visual arts, movies, pop culture).

WHAT WE BRING TO SAID TABLE:

- Creative, curious, fun, and playful work colleagues,
 - the chance to work in an interdisciplinary team – and in an equally interdisciplinary field,
 - tasks that challenge both your analytical and your creative thinking,
 - a crash course in storytelling, visualisation and film production,
 - and a never-ending supply of coffee and snacks.
